

TOWARDS A LASTING PEACE

A Chara,

Apart from Sinn Féin there are five other candidates contesting this election in Foyle. Each of them want you to send them to the British Parliament in London.

I think you should first consider what happens there.

Recently the first major debate on Ireland for seventeen years was held at Westminster. Mr Hume, who at one time told you his election would bring the Irish question to the centre of the Westminster stage, spoke for almost an hour to 14 British MPs out of a total of 650.

It was a humiliating experience for Mr. Hume and those who had elected him.

In the past two Westminster elections, the people of West Belfast elected Gerry Adams as their MP.

Prior to those elections he told them he was not prepared to see them humiliated by the British Parliament.

The British have more respect for Gerry Adams than they have for Mr. Hume. The History of Ireland has shown that those who play the game the way the English want it played, eventually lose everything including their dignity!

There are more than 10,000 people unemployed in the Foyle Constituency. This is more than any of the other 649 constituencies represented at Westminster. This situation cannot change while a foreign power decides our economic destiny.

Discrimination against nationalists is worse than ever.

The British have allowed and continue to allow this to happen.

British Soldiers and other Crown Forces literally get away with murder. In this city, more than 50 non-involved nationalists have been killed by the British Army and RUC over the past 23 years.

Not one soldier or RUC man has spent one day in prison for any of those deaths.

The British government has no interest in improving the quality of our lives. The attendance of SDLP MPs at Westminster gratifies the British. If you use your vote to send Irish politicians to Westminster you are lending credibility to Britain's claim to rule you.

Britain has no right to rule any part of our small island. In recent months we have put the British government and its propagandists under great pressure over the undemocratic exclusion of Sinn Féin from talks. There is a growing acceptance that there will be no meaningful peace process without Sinn Féin.

When everyone is at the table, everything will be on the table.

Sinn Féin have put forward our peace proposal, in the document 'Towards a Lasting Peace'. We are the only party to put forward peace proposals which exclude no-one.

We are not asking people to vote for an armed struggle. We are asking you to accept our analysis that a peace process that goes to the heart of the problem - the Partition of Ireland - must begin now.

An increased vote for Sinn Féin will accelerate that process, and make everyone face a new reality. A vote for Sinn Féin is a peaceful expression of your desire for a united Ireland.

FOR A LASTING PEACE - VOTE SINN FÉIN
