

What would happen if the KKK marched down Martin Luther King Blvd. shouting racist slogans and singing songs of "white supremacy"?

The equivalent of this happens every year in Northern Ireland. Last summer's trouble was the worst in years - and new trouble is coming. Lucy Rice, a Belfast community activist will be in St. Louis to discuss the history and context of these marches and negotiations underway to prevent more violence.

Ms Rice will be available for interviews (see attached) Thursday, May 8. She will be speaking at 7:00 at St. John Nepomuk Church, 11th at Lafayette. (please note this is a change of venue). For more information, contact Francie Broderick at ~~535-5600~~ or Jennifer Furey 523-4987.
